AT Assessments: from Panic to Productivity

Taught by Susan Simmons, Ph.D. and Jennifer Strom, M.A. - AT Consultants

Date: October 6, 2016 8:30-3:30 Location: Lake Ave. Church, 339 North Lake Ave, Pasadena, CA 91101

Are you an AT Specialist or a related service provider on an AT Assessment Team? Are you frustrated trying to keep all the moving parts of the assessment process straight, and searching for ways to work more effectively to save time, improve team communication, and still ensure your assessments are thorough and legally defensible?

This workshop is for you if:

- You feel like you are drowning in assessments and need more effective strategies to schedule your time to meet deadlines, without working nights and weekends.
- You have been praying for tools and strategies to guide and streamline data collection and simplify your reporting.
- You are experiencing headaches trying to coordinate with multiple IEP teams to stay on schedule.
- You find yourself losing sleep over whether or not your reports are legally defensible.

When was your last opportunity to meet with fellow ATs to learn about effective strategies, tools, and resources to build confidence, enhance your AT assessment process, and go from Panic to Productivity?

Join us as we look at strategies and commonly used programs to improve assessment scheduling and team communication. We will show you modern ways to use the SETT framework and WATI Information Process to pinpoint student need and guide data collection. You will receive a 'legally defensible' checklist for thorough report review - all helping you to stay in control of your assessments and save time.

Following the workshop you will be able to use reviewed tools and strategies to:

1. Schedule and coordinate an efficient assessment process with your team
2. Streamline the process of gathering and organizing data for easy report integration
3. Identify common reporting errors and ensure your report is legally defensible
